Outline the base shape with black paint using a small round brush such as a round no. 3 This step can be rough, the lines look better crooked rather then precise and clean. Outline the eye sockets. Using black face paint and a round small brush, draw large circles or ovals around the eyes. These should go from the eyebrows down to the top of cheekbones to give the skull an exaggerated, hollow-eyed look.

Add small cracks around the face with a thin brush using black paint to give the skull a more weathered or cracked look. Be creative with this step, skulls have imperfections!

Add the nose. Paint an upside-down triangle shape over the nose using black face paint. This will represent the hollow part of the skull's nose.

Using white paint, press a row of top teeth. This can be achieved using a large round brush, petal brush, small Filbert brush, or small flat brush. Then using black paint and a fine brush, draw vertical lines in between the teeth.
